WITH COW BOYS

Takes His Breakfast From Genuine Chuck Wagon
at Hugo, Col.,
Today.

STOPS AT DENVER

Thirty Thousand People Hear
Him Make a Speech
in Colorado City
at Noon.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
Denver, May 4.—The president's special arrived here this morning and the president was immediately conducted to the state house where he delivered a speech to thirty thousand persons who had assembled to hear him.

His Breakfast
At Hugo a large crowd of cowboys greeted him. They had prepared a typical cowboy lunch and were at the station with a "chuck" wagon and a whole roasted beef waiting for him
for hours before his train arrived.

The Provisions
Beside the beef they had several
packs of potatoes boiled with a wash bottle full of coffee. The president's train was scheduled to stop only two minutes and the president said: "I am awful sorry I can not eat with you, boys."

Has a Meal
"Chuck wagon right here," said one of the men. "That looks good, I can't resist it," exclaimed President Roosevelt and forthwith jumped from the car and made for the wagon.
He ate a generous chunk of roast
beef and drank two big cups of coffee.

GIDEONS HELD SUNDAY MEETING

Local Camp Met at the Congregational Church Yesterday Afternoon.

The local camp of Gideons held a business and social meeting at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at which some items of importance were considered. The chief business transacted was the election of a president in place of W. F. McCaughey, who resigned on his removal to Racine.
The new president is L. K. Crissey, one of Janesville's well known knights of the grip, and a prominent Gideon.

The growth of the Gideons is surprising, even to the old time members themselves. Where they only expected hundreds, thousands are now enrolled and still they come. The national membership committee of the organization is composed of Janesville members and as all applications of membership have to pass through their hands, it is easy to determine the rate of growth. At present about 30 new members join the order each month and they are scattered all the way from Boston to Seattle. The present membership committee comprises J. H. Mcdonald, L. K. Crissey and W. T. May-hew.

DYNAMITE DAMAGES CHURCH FOR NEGROES

Policy Clique Is Supposed to Have Instigated the Deed to Get Even With Pastor.

Chicago, May 4.—An attempt was made at 10 o'clock Sunday night to destroy the Institutional church at Thirty-eighth and Dearborn streets. A stick of dynamite was thrown at the front door by a mysterious person,
and a tremendous explosion followed,
which cracked the cornerstone, shattered the door, and wrecked the interior of the building.

It is believed agents of the clique
who control the policy shops in the city hurled the explosive to avenge themselves on the Rev. R. R. Ransom, the colored pastor of the Methodist church, who is leading the fight against this form of gambling among his people.

The Rev. Mr. Ransom declared his intention to fight the policy kings several days ago, and at both morning and evening services he denounced
the men who were fleeing colored people in all parts of the city. He appealed to his people to aid him in his fight against policy.

The Rev. Mr. Ransom says he received a warning from one of his congregation that threats had been made that dynamite would be thrown against the walls of the church while the meeting was in progress.

Plague Rages in India.
Simla, May 2.—It is officially announced that the bubonic plague infects nine British provinces in India, 156 districts, 199 big towns, seven
cantonnments and fifty-one states.

Glasgow Strike Serious.
Glasgow, May 2.—The strike of the engineers for more wages is taking on a serious aspect. Not many of the men returned to work and the strike is regarded as general.

POLICEMEN CAPTURE YOUTHFUL BURGLAR

New York Detectives Arrest Eight-
year-old Boy, Who Carries Full Set of Crackman's Tools.

New York, May 4.—Detectives I. Ittle and Gaynor saw a light in Mr.
Lauer's laundry at 171 Spring street late on Saturday night. The safe in the shop next to the laundry was blown open about three weeks ago and the detectives surmised that safe-blowers were in the laundry.

The detectives called Policeman
Hennessy and stationed him in front of the laundry. A few minutes later a small boy wiggled through an opening
under the stairway leading to the front of the laundry and ran into Policeman Hennessy's arms.

The two detectives marched their new prisoner to the station, where he said he was Frank Lamonda, 8 years old, of 107 Thompson street. He had three skeleton keys, eight padlocks
and several pieces of soap. The police think he used the soap to get the impression of locks.

FEW ACCOUNTS ARE RECEIVED

Candidates at the Recent Election
Would Do Well To Investigate the Law.

Unless several of the candidates
in the recent city election are desirous of incurring responsibility for a $500 fine, they will do well to file
statements of their election expenses.
Out of nearly half a hundred candidates—forty-four—who were on the tickets and others who failed to secure nominations—only fifteen
have filed their sworn statements.
Those who have complied are for the most part those who held nominations on the social democratic ticket
and incurred no expenses.

TWELVE HUNDRED TAKE PLEDGE

Entire Congregation of Church in Wilkesbarre Swears Abstinence.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 4.—The entire congregation of Father Curran's church took the temperance pledge for a year. Twelve hundred marched to the church, the girls and women wearing white dresses and wreaths and
carrying flowers; the boys in uniform,
and the men wearing regalia. They raised their right hands and swore to abstain themselves and to prevent intemperance in others.

Heavy Damages.
Laporte, Ind., May 4.—A jury gave John S. Walton, Jr., a minor judgment against the Chicago Transfer railway company for $8,500 for injuries received at a crossing in East Chicago. At a recent sitting of the Lake County court John S. Walton, father of the boy, was given a verdict for $15,000 for the care and education of Walton, Jr., making a total of $23,500
the railway company must pay the Walton family.

HANNA POSES
AS PEACEMAKER

He and John Mitchell
Seek to Settle Big
Strikes in Chicago
Labor Circles.

THEY MAY SUCCEED

Their Efforts Thus Far Have Met with the Best Results for Both Parties.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
Chicago, May 4.—Senator Hanna
and John Mitchell today took a hand
in trying to settle the two great local strikes, the Deering and the steam laundry, by bringing about a successful arbitration between employees
and employers.

Refuse Clergymen
The strikers have notified Mitchell and Hanna that they will not allow a clergyman to be on the arbitration
board because they do not understand the labor situation or the right of payments demanded.

An Example
They cite, as an example, that the ministers on the packing engineers' strike
decided the engineers must work for seven and one-half an hour
and work for fourteen hours a day.
This is less than union scale.

CIGARETTE BILL
MAY BE LOST

At Present It Is Shelved in the Senate Committee for Future Reference.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Madison, May 4.—If the friends of the anti-cigarette bill want to see
the bill passed by the legislature,
it is time for them to get busy.

While the tobacco men are making no open fight against it, there are indications that they are working
just as effectively in a quiet way.
Meanwhile the bill, or rather both of them—the prohibitive bill which passed the assembly and the prohibitive license bill offered by Senator Bird—are reposing in the box in the senate committee on state affairs, although a report was expected two weeks or more ago. And while this report was expected to be unanimous
with the exception of perhaps one member, talk is now that at least two and possibly a majority of the committee will be against it.

CLOUGH HOST TO MANY VISITORS

Fourteen City Officials from Stoughton, Go Over Interurban
to Rockford.

Fourteen city officials and representatives of the press from Stoughton were entertained by H. H. Clough of the interurban line yesterday.
They came from Stoughton on the morning train and left this city at 10:10 for Rockford, where they spent an hour. Thence they proceeded to Rockford where they had dinner
and later witnessed a baseball game.
The party returned to this city at seven o'clock where they were served supper, returning to Stoughton on the evening train.

DENMARK FACES BIG STRIKE

Employees of the State Railroads Will Quit if Wages Are Cut.

Copenhagen, Denmark, May 4.—
There is a prospect of a serious strike
on the part of the employees of the state railroads. For several years past these employees have been agitating for an increase in pay. There is now a bill before the Rigsdag which revises
the scale of pay, but in the case of two-thirds of the employees this bill practically reduces salaries. The president of the employers' union says that if the bill is adopted a general strike
will be called.

FLEEING FROM FALLING PEAK

People of Frank, N. W. T., Fearful of Another Landslide.

Frank, N. W. T., May 4.—The surviving inhabitants of this town are fleeing to places of safety. It is feared that another landslide will occur at any moment and the people are panic stricken. The police have established a patrol to guard the outskirts of the place and see that marauders do not enter the abandoned homes. The remaining peak of Turtle mountain is said by experts to be in such condition
that it will soon fall.

Question of Nations.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—The New York Life Insurance company does not appear officially in the complaints
made against Richardson and Mason,
alleged swindlers and murderers, by Consul Mallen as representative of Mexico. It is simply a question of the two governments.

STRIKERS MARCH TOWARDS CITY

Trackmen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway
on War Path.

TROUBLE FEARED

Railway Officials Charge Acts
of Violence to Marching Strikers and Friends.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
New Haven, Conn., May 4.—Word
has reached this city that a force of
New York, New Haven and Hartford
track men are marching from Harlem to this city compelling track-
men along the line to strike.

Charge Crimes
The railroad officials charge that the strikers are rolling boulders
down onto the tracks with the idea of stopping the through trains and also trying to wreck them as well.

Deputies Busy
The police and deputy sheriffs are out in a large force and will meet the invaders at the city limits, and expect to be able to stop them but not without a serious fight.

GRAIN BILL IS TO BE PASSED

That Now Seems the Order of the Program of the Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, May 4.—There will be another hot fight in the senate over the bill providing for a Wisconsin system of grain inspection. The opposition has asked for a hearing before the assembly on state affairs,
which has the new bill in charge,
and it will be given them, probably on Tuesday of this week. There is little or no question, however, of the prompt passage of the bill in the lower house, and it is confidently asserted by its friends that when it is again put up to the senate, in its new form which provides for the mixing of grain in public elevators,
under supervision where will be votes enough to pass it. At least the hardest kind of an effort will be made, but as there was a majority of only one vote against the former bill, it looks as though there is a chance of its being successful.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS AT FOOTVILLE

Thirty-Fifth Annual Convention of Rock County Sunday School
Association This Month.

Big preparations are being made,
and bills on every street corner proclaim the fact, for the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Rock County Sunday School association which will be held at Footville, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26th and 27th. The general topic under which the deliberations of the gathering will be carried on is "Finding and Feeding."
An attendance is expected from every school in the county, and every effort is being made to induce as large delegations as possible to be in attendance.

HELD FOR FORGING A DRAFT

New York Man Arrested at Fond Du Lac Wanted in Many Cities.

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 4.—J. Curtis Harrington, alias J. C. Curtis, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was arrested here charged with forging a draft for $1,500, which he is said to have presented at the Commercial National bank. The chief of police has a telegram from Little Rock, Ark., saying that Harrington is wanted at Lincoln, Ill., Springfield, Mo., and Schuylerville, N. Y., on similar charges. Harrington admits that he is wanted in Indian territory.

Passes Away in Washington.

Washington, May 4.—Bishop John F. Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal

cal conference, and had been in failing health since. He was appointed head of the university at Washington
when it was organized, and had continued in that position until he died.

BOILER EXPLOSION AT ELECTRIC PLANT

Engineer May Be Fatally Wounded in Accident Which Causes Loss
of Nearly $20,000.

Bloomington, Ill., May 4.—The most remarkable and destructive explosion
in local history was that at the municipal electric light plant in Normal.
It came without warning, inflicting
injuries that may result in the death
of one man, and causing damage
which is estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000.

The boiler was comparatively new,
and there is no positive theory as to the cause. It was carried a distance of 200 feet, turning a complete somersault. The large building was torn to pieces, bricks in some instances being thrown 400 feet. The engineer, John Butler of Bloomington, was partially protected by the big fly wheel,
but suffered a broken leg and other
injuries, which may prove fatal.

ther evidence is obtained it is likely Father Walser accused of Agatha Reichlin's murder, will be released

mer.

ST. LOUIS BOODLE CASE IS STILL BEFORE GRAND JURY

Ex-Lt. Gov. Lee and Several Other Important Witnesses Are to Be Examined Yet.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
St. Louis, Mo., May 4.—The grand jury today resumed the legislative boodle inquiry. Chief among the witnesses expected to be heard is the speaker of the house, Whitcomb,
and ex-Lt. Gov. Lee. Efforts to secure the attendance of Col. "Bill" Phelps, the famous lobbyist are to be continued. Subpoenas have been Forced to Drive Them Back to Homes.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)

the Redberry Lake settlement who are on a spirit pilgrimage, won't be allowed to continue, but will be sent back to their villages immediately by the northwest mounted police. In North Saskatchewan it is reported that immigration agents broke up the meetings of several hundred delegates who were being addressed by a delegate from Yorkton with a view to causing an uprising. One meeting was attended by men and women in a nude state. The Yorkton leaders were forced to return home.
They then refused to ride horses
and started to walk to Saskatchewan.

guel, Ladrone Leader,
Shows Much
Treachery.

KILLED IN FLEEING

Trying to Escape
for a Cordon of Police.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
Washington, May 4.—Details of the death of Gen. Luciano San Miguel, the ladrone scourge of Ibal
province and the territory about Manilla until last month, have been received. With it much valuable evidence of duplicity of prominent Filipinos.

Shot to Death
Macabee scouts cornered San Miguel and about one hundred and sixty of his followers in an old block-house at Calocan. The scouts charged under a heavy fire killing forty-one of the rebels and driving
the rest to flight.

Kill San Miguel

attempted to slip through the lines
but was caught and put up a plucky
running fight and was finally brought down after almost his entire guard had been killed. The remains were dumped into a ditch without any ceremony.

Important papers were found on his person which showed that he had been in constant communication with Filipinos who had professed allegiance to the United States.

RIOT IN JOLIET
CATHOLIC CHURCH

Two Thousand Persons Engage in a
Free-For-All Fight — Women
Start the Trouble.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)
Joliet, Ill., May 4.—Two thousand men and women engaged in a free
fight in the Slavonic Roman Catholic church here Sunday morning. Policemen arrived in response to a riot call and they were compelled to use their clubs freely. Clubs, stones and revolvers were used freely by the riotous worshippers. Pews and furniture were smashed and windows broken and scores of men and women were fighting with bleeding, lacerated faces.

The riot was an outgrowth of long standing trouble between two factions,
each of which has tried to control the church.

Just how the fight began, or who began it, is not known. The church was crowded, and the collectors were making their usual rounds. It is asserted that several women started the trouble. There was a brief interval, filled with angry, excited exclamations, and then, as the priest, Father Kollar,
sprang to his feet with a remonstrance,
the whole congregation seemed to be fighting right and left.

Attack the Police.
In a few minutes a patrol wagon
filled with policemen whirled up to the church and the patrolmen entered the edifice, which was filled with the sounds of tumult. The men had been penned in by a cordon of angry women, who pelted the stronger sex with clenched hands and books.

By the time the police arrived some of the combatants had fled to the street. As the policemen entered the church those on the outside returned to the fight, armed with clubs, stones,
and revolvers. Those within left off
fighting with each other and untidily beset the police. Those from without fired into the patrolmen from the rear.

Priest Escapes Injury.
Women and children cried out in terror at the sight, and many men ran from the church or leaped out of the windows. Then the policemen drew revolvers and threatened to shoot unless order prevailed. The affrighted
combatants ceased fighting and the policemen began to make arrests. Of all the scores of persons injured, none
had to be taken to a hospital. Father Kollar, who entered into the midst of the fighting in an effort to calm his parishioners, escaped uninjured. Many arrests were made during the day.

GAVE OLD FASHIONED TEMPERANCE LECTURE SUNDAY.

ALL PHASES WERE DEPICTED

He Went Over the Entire Field Carefully, and Picked Out Salient Points.

Yesterday afternoon the Murphy League of the city met at the Y. M. C. A. building. The exercises were full of interest and the attendance was large. The great work being done by this league in Janesville always brings it prominently before the people when they hold meetings.

Good Discourse
Rev. Richard M. Vaughan was the speaker of the afternoon and his talk was one of those rare old style temperance lectures which are seldom heard today. He took his text from Proverbs 23: 29, to 35 verses. "Who hath we? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babbings? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at wine, they that go to seek mixed wine."

His Talk
The caption is chosen because temperance lectures nowadays usually deal with the social and political aspects of the question. We propose to speak on the personal peril of drink. The sentiments may not be directly pertinent, yet the personal habits of some of us may need rectification. We are drinking twice the alcoholics we did twenty years ago. It is now annually twenty gallons per capita. Wine is getting back on many sideboards. The wagon labelled, "Family Beer" stops in unexpected places. Then there is the malodorous institution known as "the Dutch lunch" in the crowd for novelties, ladies meet to sip beer and chew pretzels. We speak at long range. But a cultured lady in one of our cities complains she must subscribe to the new order or lose social standing. It is beer and pretzels, or else ostracism. It may not be difficult to confirm the words of the famous Dr. Senn. "There is much more drunkenness among women, than is dreamed of by most people."

Intemperance
Intemperance is no new evil. From the earliest times it has prevailed. A liquid containing sugar, or starch convertible into sugar under high temperature will begin to ferment. The sugar becomes carbonic acid, and alcohol. All people have made this simple discovery. The literature of the ancient Jews bears witness to the prevalence of drunkenness. Possibly the perils of drink are nowhere more vividly set forth than in the book of Proverbs wherein is found the practical philosophy of the Jews.

It tells us that deceptiveness is one element of peril. There is allurements and then treachery. The attractive appearance of wine is calculated to deceive. "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its color aright." The long sunny days in the vineyards seem comforted in its rosy depths. No wonder Horace wrote so charmingly of Falernian wine. Whiskey also has been apostrophized. Robert Ingersoll devoted some of his rhetorical jingles to the pale of spirituous liquid. No rhapsodist has appeared, however, to laud the charms of beer. There is nothing poetic about beer. It isn't a poetic word. One might as well attempt a lyric on sauer kraut.

Circumstances
The circumstances wherein we are invited to drink are also often deceptive. We are in an atmosphere of good fellowship, and when the landlord fills the flowing bowl, it seems the best of sociableness to join in. Indeed, the most bibulous men were once esteemed the best fellows. The Crochattan Fencibles, a society of Edinburgh literateurs had this motto:—"Who last beside his chair shall fall, He is the king among us three."

Possibly this noble sentiment might be revived and made to do service as the motto of the patronesses of the Dutch lunch. The tragedy of intemperance is that it engulfs, not so much the stingy, and the mean-spirited, but the men of free generous nature.

First Effect
The first effects of alcohol also deceive. It spurs the heart the flow of blood is quickened. One feels stronger, fancy gets a freer run. There is no new fuel but the draft is stronger, the blaze higher, and the ash heap nearer. To this temporary physical exhilaration people who are unhappy, or who live on the physical plane are apt to resort. If we lived in a dingy, ill-smelling room, ate food as some women cook it, we would have gnawing about the stomach to say nothing about the craving for beautiful surroundings, which would impel us to the saloons. There is no cure for intemperance until we reconstruct society from the bottom up, until we give submerged men and women opportunity to live human lives, until we lift them up above the temptations of alcoholic drink by the power of Christian ideals.

Ancient Philosopher
The ancient philosopher warns us with respect to the harms of drink. Some of that harm is physical. There are "wounds without cause." This is not the doctrine of the liquor advertisements, some of them reading matter paid for out of the $100,000 recently voted by the brewers' congress to educate public sentiment. Men need physical stimulant, we are told. Let the reputable physicians determine that matter. But mere stimulation, except on unusual occasions is dangerous. A stimulant is a nest of hornets. They produce excitement. The ordinary staid and measured gait of the farmer, is greatly accelerated. The frantic beating of his hands, and the wide and rapid oscillating of his legs indicate considerable stimulation. But when the excitement is all over he is the more deeply wearied. Is alcohol a food? True, some of it oxidizes in the body but at the expense of the proteids. In effect it is an alien substance, a poison.

Physical Injury
The physical injury of alcohol is a familiar story. It ulcerates the stomach, enfeebles the heart, weakens the grip of the nerves, and softens the muscles. The corpulent drinker is so, because worn-out tissues are not properly removed, he is an ash pile. In epidemics, intemperance is a sentence of death. Insurance companies will take no risks on confirmed drinkers. Our great corporations by their rules are pronouncing men who drink to be physically unfit to hold responsible positions. The greatest temperance societies on earth today are the railroads. One need not wear a prophet's mantle to predict that the increasing complexity of modern civilization placing as it does, the lives of multitudes in a toiler's hands will shuply compel society, in self defence in some manner to abolish the saloon.

Moral Harm
Drink works great moral harm, also. To man, the body is sacrilege. To lessen ones ability, to serve the world is to wrong every person we might have served. "Drunkenness is not only the cause of crime," says Ruskin, "it is crime." Whiskey to crimes of passion, and beer soddens into deliberate crime. Most crimes committed are traceable to alcohol. Intoxication lowers moral restraint. The sense of propriety is lost. You have scratched civilized man and found a savage. The social evil goes hand in hand with the drink evil. Silly girls who drink are moths flying into the flame. And the damning count against the saloons in some sections of our cities is their alliance with the house whose threshold is the gateway to hell. Crime? Men drink, are men irresponsible.

"It's the devil's joke," said Police-man O'Brien, as he stood handcuffed between deceives, beside the bier of the wife he had killed in a drunken brawl "she was the best woman that ever lived."

Sees Peril
The wise sees peril for us also in the bondage of drink. "I will seek it yet again," is the drunkard's resolve. Why? Perhaps the explanation is physical. Alcoholism is a disease. The man who has it is to be pitied and helped. The disordered system can be quieted only by a stimulant ever more fierce. The vast majority of men who drink, do so moderately. Many of them are splendid men who abhor the intoxication of which we speak today. But observation proves that the drift is apt to be downward and when once the feet slip, we have the spectacle of the man on the icy hillside, there is no stop until he reaches the bottom.

Hereditarily a Cause
Hereditarily may be an element in our enslavement. By atavism, we may have inheritance from even a distant ancestor. Our Anglo-Saxon ancestors gloried alike in their piracy and their beastly drunkenness. The taint may be in our blood and unless we can vouch for even our remote forbears we do well to avoid the cup. Real permanent freedom comes only through displacement. The whole philosophy of redemption from the slavery of drink is in the appeal of the New Testament—"Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the Spirit."

LEGISLATORS ARE WITTY WRITERS

Evans and Parker Keep the Assembly in a Roar of Laughter.

Assemblyman Barker of Milwaukee and David Evans, Jr., of Wausau have the reputation of being the humorists of the lower house. They rarely ever agree on any bill, and never overlook an opportunity during discussions to take a "fall" out of each other. The other day when Mr. Barker was making a speech in favor of the Reynolds' factory inspection bill Mr. Evans proposed the following amendment to the bill: O. Hark, for Barker barks and Barks again, and still again The noble Barker barks And all the 'barks Upon the sea are shaken, And shiver and shake With a breeze blowing to lee, And well they may, For 'twas a wind, From out the windy Mouth of Barker. When Mr. Barker gravely arose to a question of personal privilege, and sent the following to the chief clerk's desk, with the request that it be read with apologies to Kipling: Here's to ye, David Evans, With your female suffrage plan, You are the windiest talker Of all the cuckoo clan. So, here's to ye, David Evans, As your soulful eyes do roll, With Barker standing by you Striking terror to your soul. The reading of the lines was greeted with much laughter, and it was generally remarked that honors now rest easy between the two members.

FIVE INJURED SATURDAY NIGHT

LIVELY RUNAWAY ON MILWAUKEE STREET, KEEL STREET.

ED. INMAN'S HEAD WAS CUT

After Dumping Three Men, the Animal Smashed Into a Buggy.

In point of freedom from accident a runaway which occurred on West Milwaukee street Saturday night was remarkable. Three rigs were overturned, and five persons thrown from the rigs to the ground and not one of the number was seriously injured, the escape in one or two instances being almost miraculous. The opening scene of the accident was laid near the Highland house where the light road wagon in which Robert Reid and James Gardner were riding encountered a carriage in which Ed. Inman was driving. The former rig lost a wheel and Reid and Inman were both thrown from their seats, Reid carrying the reins with him.

Gardner was then left alone in the three wheeled wagon without any reins to guide the horse, which dashed furiously down the street, the wheelless axle grinding a shower of sparks from the pavement. The runaway animal was brought to a stop in front of Deenash and Bonahoom's confectionary store on the bridge, where the wagon met an obstacle and refused to budge. The horse wrenched himself loose, smashing the wagon in the process, and disappeared up the street.

Thrown Heavily
Gardner had been thrown heavily to the ground, and was assisted into the nearest store, where it was found that he had suffered no injuries other than a few scratches.

In a few moments the fugitive horse appeared, running at top speed in the direction from which he had originally come. Near the People's Drug store an effort was made to head him off and he rushed into a carriage in which Mrs. R. G. Merrill and her little daughter were seated. The carriage was completely overturned in such a way as to shelter the occupants who were buried under it, neither of whom was harmed. Mrs. Merrill's horse did not budge an inch. Gardner's horse had fallen to the ground and several persons had his head before he could escape.

Inman Cut
Meanwhile Inman had jumped into his rig, where he had fallen by the Highland house, and had driven post haste to the depot where he was to meet a train. Arriving there it was found that he had received the most painful injuries of any of the five who had figured in the runaway. His head was cut in several places, and he was bleeding freely, although the bruises were not of a serious nature.

RAILWAY NEWS OF TIMELY INTEREST

Changes Made in Local Yards and on the Main Line Recently.

A delegation of citizens from Barnum, Crawford county, appeared before railroad commissioner J. W. Thomas at Madison recently. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road recently discontinued their depot at that point. The citizens committee came for the purpose of registering a protest with the railroad commission or against the discontinuing of the depot. They take the ground that the place has the required population and assert that at the time of the building of the road by the old Wisconsin and Western road the taxpayers materially assisted in the way of bonds and donation of land for a depot site. It is claimed that there is a population of 230 within a radius of one mile of the depot Barnum has a cheese factory, a saw mill and three stores, besides other places of business. Mr. Thomas will make a thorough investigation of the matter and if he finds the conditions as stated, he will do his utmost to try and persuade the officials of the St. Paul road to change their plans. When the road was under the old management it was a losing proposition, it is the belief that the proposition is not a winner under the new management. The road is very rough near Barnum and it is thought that the change in plans is for the purpose of curtailing expenses.

Western roads have agreed to follow the example of the Wisconsin Central in paying the switch charges to and from industries not situated on their tracks. The absorption of the charges will be confined to Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the lines are in competition with the Wisconsin Central.

Extra large freight engines put on the Madison division of the Northwestern road, have made necessary the enlarging of the Winona turntable from fifty to seventy-five feet.

The Union Pacific which bid $22.71 per capita between Chicago and San Francisco for parties of 100 or less and $21.46 for 100 or more has been given the contract for the transportation of officers and men of the navy between those two cities.

The railroads centering in Peoria began yesterday to charge 5 cents a ton a day after forty eight hours for storage on freight.

The Great Northern road has issued a circular showing the railroads side of the double header question.

PEET'S THEORY AS TO MOUNDS

Believes Wisconsin Builders Were the Ancestors of the Winnebago Indians.

Dr. Stephen D. Peet, editor of the American Antiquarian at Chicago, has theories as to the "Mound Builders in Wisconsin." He attempts to show that the well known mounds of the state may be reasonably attributed to the ancestors of the Winnebago Indians. Dr. Peet was brought up in Milwaukee, graduated at Beloit and has studied archeology all his life. He is about to add five chapters to his book, "Mound Builders," published ten years ago. Other books of his are "Emley Mounds," "Chippewee Mounds" and "Ruined Cities of Mexico."

Ten Clans in Wisconsin
Dr. Peet has drawn a map to show that in Wisconsin were located about ten clans of mound builders, all belonging to one tribe. The peculiarity of this tribe was that its totem, or tribal sign, was a different bird or beast for each clan, and that these were made in earth mounds that can still be easily traced by one who looks at these outlines. Wisconsin, is the only place in the world where the totem, or figuratively speaking, the flag of the tribe was made on the ground in this way. The mounds are from a few feet to 1,000 feet in length, and the highest are three to four feet. Among the different animals represented by the tribes are bear, deer, wildcat, buffalo, panther, wolf, squirrel, pigeon, and weasel. These are not imaginary outlines, but are proven by surveys to be accurate representations. Moreover, the various animals are not always in the same position but assume a great variety of positions.

Central Camp of Tribe
These mounds are found north and south of Milwaukee, at Waukesha, Beloit, Indian Ford, Madison, Baraboo, Arena, Portage, Koshkonong, Fox River, West Bend, along the Wisconsin river, Green Lake and at many other places. The central camp of the tribe, north of Fort Atkinson, and south of Lake Mills, has for years been known as Aztalan.

The objects of building these mounds were many. They were built around villages and had brush on them to add to their protection. They were used as sepulchres. The making of them was a part of their religion. Long mounds were built at suitable places as game drives and the builders shot buffalo and deer from the thicket as the game passed along the path made for it. Intaglios or holes were dug in which to store grain.

Ancestors of Winnebagoes
That the tribe that built these mounds were ancestors of the Winnebagoes is believed by Dr. Peet. The bones of the mound builders are like those of the Winnebagoes. The Winnebagoes are a branch of the Dakotas. They were driven down the Ohio and migrated up the Mississippi at Baraboo is an ellips or mound of a man with one leg pointing south. This is an image of the anti-natural god of the Dakotas, who had one leg, was always cold, and whose popular sport was shooting frogs. There is another proof that the mound builders of Wisconsin and the Winnebagoes, and Dakotas, have a common origin. At a mound builders village on the Wisconsin river, is found the effigy of a rain god, or thunder bird, that is found in Ohio, where the tribe came from. This is the same as the rain god of the Dakotas, which is represented with wings drooping. To the present time, investigations make it plain to Dr. Peet that the Winnebagoes long ago built the Wisconsin mounds.

WIRE TWISTING BY MACHINERY

The Cement Post Works Have Their Newly Invented Twister in Shape.

Wire twisting will now be done at the Cement Post factory, the machine for that purpose having been installed last week. It is the first and only machine of its kind ever built and was designed especially for use in the local factory. One part of the mechanism is unique and machinists will recognize this fact when they learn that, as constructed, the carriage travels 84 inches on a 15 inch stroke. The machine is 10 feet long, 38 inches high and its normal capacity is 8 1/2 wires per minute. It was built by the Hoefer Manufacturing company, of Freeport, Ill.

The factory resumes work in all its branches this week and will soon be running full capacity again.

VISITS RUINED CITIES

EXPLORER DISCOVERS MUCH OF AZTEC CIVILIZATION.

Teobert Maler Has Been Able to Reconstruct a Very Good Picture of One of the Smaller Cities of the Period—Curiosities of Sculpture.

(Special Correspondence.) Another chapter has been added to the exploration of the ruined cities of Central America, once the seats of the strange Aztec civilization destroyed by Cortez nearly five centuries ago. In the recently published report of Teobert Maler, who for several years has been conducting researches among these ancient ruins in the interests of the Peabody Museum of Archeology and Ethnology at Harvard University.

Mr. Maler's explorations stretched over three years, and were carried on mainly in the Usumatsin valley, in southern Mexico. Among the long-forgotten cities which Mr. Maler visited were Yaxchilan, literally the "City of the Green Stones," El Cayo, the "Place Where the Banks Are Strewn With Stones," "Budisilha," or "Smoking Water," from the mist rising from an adjacent waterfall; El Chilo, so called from the herb from which chile sauce is made; Analte, named for the white lilies that flourish on the banks of the river; and El Chichocapote, named from a tree which produces a well-known Mexican chewing gum.

At La Mar there still remained sufficient evidence of its ancient structures to reconstruct a very good picture of one of the smaller cities of the Aztec period. The architectural center of the city, it was found, was formed by two temples, now in ruins, which crowned two pyramids, one facing to the east and the other to the west. Between the pyramids was a wide plaza bordered on the north and south by smaller buildings. The plaza was originally ornamented with stelae, one of which, although serving only to adorn so small a city as La Mar, is a splendid specimen of the best contemporary Aztec sculpture.

It has been suggested that Yaxchilan, the most important of the ancient cities which Mr. Maler visited, may have been the town referred to by Cortez in a letter to his master, the Emperor Charles V, although Mr. Maler himself rather doubts the identification.

"There must have been heavy rain-falls in distant Guatemala and eastern Chiapas," says Mr. Maler, in describing his approach to Yaxchilan, "for the Usumatsin to the very edge of the high banks, which made progress up the river exceedingly difficult. We had to force our way through branches of trees projecting out of the water, and often we had to use our machetes to remove the obstacles impeding our way.

"When we rested at night," he continues, "we fastened our cayuco to the branches of a great cottonwood and protected ourselves and our baggage as well as we could with oiled cloths against the heavy night rain. It was not possible to go on shore, as everything was flooded. At noon of the second day we finally arrived at the ruined city.

The ancient city, Mr. Maler asserts, was not a city of streets, but of terraces rising from a water front that is slowly and inevitably being eaten away by the turbulence of the river. Many of the structures were so overgrown that they could not be excavated, and photographs of various parts of the ruins had to be taken at special moments when the sun forced its way through the thick foliage. Here and there were found circular stone altars, probably set up over the graves of persons of rank. About the temples were many beautiful stone stelae carved on both sides—the side facing the temple almost invariably representing the ancient god Ketsalkatl, who seem to have been the special deity of the city, while the other side represented a human figure.

Perhaps the most remarkable of the memorials Mr. Maler discovered is a sculptured lintel which he considers the finest piece of sculpture yet found in the city. It was done in fine human head. A serpent with open jaws rises from the top of the helmet. Here, also, in the temple of Ketsalkatl, much of which is still standing, the explorer found a great figure of the god sitting cross-legged and yet so tall that it originally must have almost touched the ceiling. As a whole it is curiously suggestive of some of the Eastern representations of the Hindu Buddha. The eyes, also, are oblique, like a Chinaman's—two facts which are interesting in view of the theory that America was settled from Asia. More curious still is the story of the wood cutters who work in the neighboring forest and who told Mr. Maler that the Indians still come and offer sacrifices to this very image, burning incense in vessels adorned with feathers, and performing strange dances—one of which is called the "Dance of the Tuncan" because the dancers wear the stuffed skin of this

An Aztec Sculpture, bird as a head dress. Whence they come and whence they go not even the wood cutters can answer.

MONKEYS SPOILED THE PARTY.

Nerve-Shattering Experience of Lady Barker in India.

An amusing story is told of Lady Barker's first dinner party at Simla, India. Desirous of having a pretty table, Lady Barker had herself expended much care in decorating it. She had just received from Europe certain dainty china figures and ornamental dishes and had arranged a tempting show of sweetmeats, flowers and fruit. When dressing time came Lady Barker charged her servants to be on the watch and take care of everything, but something of interest occurred outside and every servant left the room, quite forgetting to close an open window. Before this window was a big tree, on which sat several monkeys, which had watched the preparations for dinner with much interest. A half-hour later the hostess appeared, ready to receive her guests. Just to be sure that everything was right, she gave a glance into the dining room. There she beheld a busy company of monkeys hard at work, grinning and jabbering, their cheeks and arms crammed with expensive sweetmeats, while the table presented a scene of frightful devastation—broken glass and china, fair linen soiled, everything tossed about in hopeless confusion. From this wreck she had to turn aside and welcome her guests with as much ease of manner as possible. Dinner, of course, had to be deferred until order could be restored.

Monument for Sterling Morton. A memorial tablet is on exhibition in two rooms of the Nebraska State Historical society at Lincoln which is to be placed upon one of the big red-wood trees in a park at Santa Cruz, Cal. In memory of the late J. Sterling Morton, former secretary of agriculture. This tablet is about two feet square and is cast with its inscriptions standing in bold relief, so that they may be read at a considerable distance. On the upper left-hand corner are the words "Plant truths" and upon the upper right-hand corner the words "Plant trees." Below these words is a design composed of four oak leaves and an acorn on a single twig, beneath which is set for the significance of the tablet, as follows: "In memory of J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, father of Arbor day; born April 22, 1832; died April 27, 1902. By order of Nebraska State Historical society."

Astor's Son Popular at Court. William Waldorf Astor has never recovered his social footing in London since he snubbed one of King Edward's friends by turning him out of doors when he came to the Astor residence without invitation, having been brought there by one of the guests, with whom he had been dining. But the royal cold shoulder does not extend to the ex-patriated American's son, for young Waldorf is quite popular at court. He was even included among the small number of "personal friends of their majesties" who were invited to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the king's wedding.

London Dudes Wearing Corsets. A sartorial authority in London announced some months ago that before long well-dressed men would be wearing corsets. The statement caused some ridicule, but it has borne out by facts, for the real London swell of to-day is unmistakably corseted. More than that, he is having his hips padded and there is a growing demand for the effeminate articles necessary to giving the appearance of wasp waists.

New York Not Favored State. No native New Yorker was ever elected President of the United States. Only four of the states own governors who have been natives of New York, and only one man born in New York city has been elected a United States senator.

When Fate juggled protoplasms, more attention was paid anglers than poets. The deduction is invulnerable. Does not Isaac Walton say: "Angling is somewhat like poetry, men are to be born so,"—and are there not more fishermen than poets?

Occasionally we see a man that is both a poet and an angler. You will recall Longfellow's vultures that come not singly! Such a man is to be pitted! Between getting an inspiration and a bite, and his friends can never tell whether he is about to start fishing or go into a trance. This combination of bolshers and metre is supposed to be the author of that touching, bit of verse we have so often quoted on the rolling river bank, our toes in the sand and a lively angle-worm cavorting in our grimy hand:

"When the wind is in the north, Skillful fishers go not forth. When the wind is in the south, It blows the bait in the fish's mouth. When the wind is in the east, 'Tis neither wind nor man nor beast. When the wind is in the west, Then it is the very best!"

In youthful days we swore by the above, but to-day we suspect the author of mixing some very bad versification with a bit of Indian lore. For consolation we now turn, not to the poet-fisher and his windy poemette, but to good old Walton, who says: "We may say of angling as 'Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did,' and so (if I might be judged), God never did make a more calm, quiet, innocent recreation than angling."

All this is mere musing, preface to a thought that is time to get your fishing tackle and fish stories into shape for a hard campaign. If possible, invent some new lies, but if originally has the spring malaria, so disguise the old ones, that they will not be recognized. You may recall the farmer who admonished the hunters not to shoot rabbits on his farm unless they had long tails—the short-tailed ones were all his.

We are not so grasping. Once upon a time we were fishing and a large bass accidentally swallowed our boat chain. Two years later we caught a fish in the same waters that had a natural look about him. We cut him open in search of landmarks, and would you believe it?—we found our boat chain; but it had rusted dreadfully. In fact, the action of the water had so affected the iron links that they had entirely disappeared, but the nice round holes were preserved as perfectly as when the fish swallowed them.

As previously stated, we are not grasping. We ask only this story for our own during the present season. It is a modest story, and we cleave to it only because of its strict allegiance to truth and veracity. We would ask, that during the coming summer, this lie be not infringed on. If necessary, we will apply for a patent.

Do you recall the fish story of Antony? At that period when he was calling Cleopatra "habe" and getting her rouge on the end of his proboscis, they went fishing together. The wind was in the north that day and Antony spat on his hook in vain. Fearing disgrace in the eyes of his innamorata, he ordered a lackey to dive with a fish and place it on his hook. Then, with great manifestation of prowess, he landed the fish. The hoax was discerned by Cleopatra, and next day when many were assembled, she ordered a diver to place a dried herring on his line. The result was hoisterous, and after the laughter had subsided, the fair charmer remarked: "Go, general! Leave fishing to us petty princes of Pharoas and Canopus, your game is cities, kingdoms and provinces!"

An Iowa farmer has discounted Col. Cody and his wild west show at getting rich quickly. Not long since a piece of rubber hose got caught in his corn-sheller and was fed the chickens along with the golden kernels of the field. The farmer was much elated soon thereafter to find his hens were laying the latest style rubber garters for women, with the silver buckles and the engraving, "private grounds," already attached and adjusted. Since that time he has been scouring the countryside for hose. One day he ran out of chopped hose and tried to fool the hens by feeding them on rubber-boat salad. They took the feed all right, but instead of producing lady's stocking supporters, delivered him a bushel basket full of snap-proof rubber balls. He is trying all sorts of experiments now and expects soon to have his biddies trained to producing a notion store every thirty days.

A Wisconsin paper tells of a man who narrowly escaped a serious accident by being kicked in the face by a horse he had just shod. Most of us would prefer to escape by having the horse miss us entirely.

CATARRH A SERIOUS DISEASE

Cannot be Trifled With—Hyomel the True and Only Guaranteed Cure Hyomel should be used when any of the following symptoms are present. It cures by the simple and natural method of breathing healing and germ-killing balsams into the air passages and lungs. These symptoms show the presence of catarrhal germs in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and the tissues of the lungs.

offensive breath
dryness of the nose
pain across the eyes
pain in back of the head
pain in front of the head
tendency to take cold
burning pain in the throat
hawking to clear the throat
pain in the chest
a cough
stitch in side
loss of sleep
variable appetite
low spirited at times
raising of frothy mucus
expectorating yellow matter
difficulty in breathing
frequent sneezing

To breathe through a nose and throat filled with catarrhal germs, means that the air going into the lungs is filled with catarrhal poison. It is no wonder that every organ of the system shows disease and decay as a result.

Do not dump nauseating drugs into the stomach to cure catarrh; breathe Hyomel and quick relief and complete cure would follow. If it should fall The People's Drug Co. will return your money without any questions.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight and Tuesday warmer.

THE NEXT CAMPAIGN

The prospects for harmony within the ranks of the republican party are not very flattering and unless something miraculous occurs before the legislature adjourns, the contending factions will be as far apart as ever. From a party standpoint, conditions are deplorable, and yet they must be endured.

That the governor will be a candidate to succeed himself is generally conceded, and that the primary law will be among the main issues is very apparent.

Defeat of the tax rate commission measure will also figure prominently. An effort will be made to have it appear that the manufacturers and railroads are in collusion, and that these interests attempt to dominate the state.

The governor will continue to pose as the Moses of the masses, and his campaign will be waged along the lines of class distinction, the favored few against the many.

The closing paragraph of the recent message, intimated that the next legislature would be created to do his bidding and the message entire was more of a political than state paper.

It is well that the people understand the situation thus early, for it may dawn upon the minds of many who have been infatuated that they have been following a will-o-the-wisp.

It was not considered a very serious matter when the senate was insulted by a message two years ago, because only a handful of men were involved, but the last message of the same character is far reaching.

The manufacturers of Wisconsin are the life of the state. They furnish employment to more than half the population, and contribute largely to growth and prosperity.

While it may be gratifying to spite, to accuse this class of men of being railroad lobbyists, working in the interests of corporate or selfish motives it is not a very strong argument, and by the time it reaches the campaign, it will not be considered good campaign thunder.

A large head and strong voice are not necessary to convince the average man who tells, that his money comes from the employer, and not from the state department. If he stops to think twice, he discovers that the governor pays no freight, and manufactures nothing but a noise, and that his pay roll is confined to the maid in the kitchen.

When the issues of the next campaign are given time to filter down through the average brain, it will be acknowledged that they are destitute of merit, and have no excuse for existing.

It may also dawn upon the mind that the governors ambition is largely personal, and that many of his theories are impractical, and dangerous to the well being of the state.

THE CONSERVATIVE SENATE.

Much credit is due to the conservative element in the senate, for holding theoretical reform measures in check, until public sentiment had an opportunity to digest them. Snap legislation may be all right for Iowa, but Wisconsin has no use for it. This fact was fully appreciated by the men in the senate who refused to become a party to theoretical and impractical reform.

These men have been maligned and abused by administration organs, but the people realize today that they were right, and the conviction will be strengthened as time advances.

The tendency of the age is revolutionary and the pace is fast enough to satisfy legitimate ambition. It needs no encouragement from erratic reformers, and the state is fortunate in having a class of representatives who are disposed to hold this spirit in check.

The assembly is also entitled to congratulation. The experiences of the past few days demonstrate the fact that a respectable majority of the lower house do their own thinking on questions that are vital to the welfare of the state.

They have more regard for the home constituency than for the whim of the governor, and bulldozing fails to intimidate them. The state will continue to prosper, because the people are still in control, and the hypnotic spell is broken.

In attempting to entertain all the dignities of the country at one sitting, St. Louis was badly demoralized. Several governors went home in a rage. Offended dignity is a little difficult to control. About one governor a day is enough for steady diet, and St. Louis might better spread them over a little territory than permit them to congest on her banks.

An Indiana judge has decided that the cooking of onions is a public nuisance, and there fore unlawful. What influence this decision may have on the market, is not yet apparent.

The president is making many friends in the west. His lunch counter experience in St. Louis was characteristic of the man. He represents a popular brand of aristocracy.

The ranks of the faithful have been broken at Madison, and some of the infatuated members have come to their senses.

The council made a wise choice in selecting Mr. Watson as street commissioner.

The new library building is about ready for public inspection.

The citizens efforts to beautify the parks, are commendable, and entitled to every encouragement.

The manufacturers and the railroads will continue to do business in Wisconsin.

PRESS COMMENT

Menasha Breeze: When we look at the Illinois legislature we can be glad that we live in Wisconsin, even if we do blush.

Racine Journal: Why all those ill-natured references to Senator Quarles? His services to his state and country in the senate have been such merits the highest consideration of Wisconsin people.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: Now that Governor La Follette as well as the Interstate commerce commission is after railroads that grant rebates to favored shippers, it may not be long before there is "something doing."

Marquette Eagle: Mrs. Schlusser was hissed off the stage in Milwaukee Monday, where she appeared while her husband was being tried for his life, and Milwaukee's reputation for common horse sense is maintained.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Another member of the Vanderbilt family has been married, but the public is getting accustomed to this sort of thing and the details are not regarded as of particular interest.

Racine Times: A man who is about to start a coffin factory in a Missouri town promises to give steady employment to fifty people "if the present death rate keeps up." It behooves the public spirited citizens of that town to come forward with a bonus and keep up the death rate.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Now May 15 has been mentioned as a day upon which the legislature will probably adjourn. It really makes no difference how soon the adjournment takes place. The sooner it comes the better. There is no prospect for an agreement between the quarreling republicans upon any of the big questions now before the legislature, and the longer the session lasts the more it will cost the people of the state.

Milwaukee News: Madison reports indicate that here is little prospect of a compromise on a primary election bill unless the assembly accepts the senate's ultimatum of a referendum. It doubtless is galling to the assembly to find the stalwarts of the senate determined to make no concession in a spirit of compromise, but the issue is exactly where it has been from the start. It is for the "reformers" to decide whether a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

TOBACCO NOTES OF INTEREST

RIDING HAS ABOUT ENDED FOR THE PRESENT.

Sorting is also finished.

All thoughts now turn to the new crop, and what it will be.

April went out with a snow storm and May came in with a frosty breath that was anything but favorable for tobacco seed beds. In fact the growers have been up against a tough proposition in the weather that has confronted them all the spring thus far. In his note book sketches the editor of the Edgerton Reporter says that growers who sowed seed in March just before the warm spell had the young plants well started but the heavy freezes since have either killed the plants outright, or caused the beds to take a sickly yellow color that they will scarcely recover from. Most of these growers have resorted to the surest way of securing a satisfactory stand of plants.

Delay Planting
These conditions, however, may not delay the planting season, for a few warm days makes a wonderful change in the plant beds and with favorable weather the young plants are advanced very rapidly. Plants that show upon the beds May 1st are often ready for transplanting by June 1st, which is as early a date as growers care for them in this climate. It is rare that plants can not be obtained if a system of forcing is practiced by the usual planting season, which is seldom before the middle of June.

Want Free Site
Does the city of Portage want an $5,000 warehouse that would call for $20,000 worth of labor annually? If so they can have such a building by taking up with the proposition made by the United Clear manufacturers, who ask for a free site for their warehouse and a $3,000 bonus. In case the city meets these requirements, a building 75 by 100 feet will be built by the company.

Shade Grown Crop
Shade grown leaf seems to be growing in favor, and growers who experimented last year, are anxious to continue the work the coming season. Not only is this true here in Rock county, but the same is true of Connecticut and Massachusetts shade growers, and in some cases the acreage will be slightly increased. An inspection of some Sumatra grown under cover by S. B. Hedges last summer shows some of the prettiest leaf ever seen in the local market. When tobacco of such texture can be produced it won't take long for the shade growing idea to pass from the experimental to the practical standpoint.

Local Market
The local market is devoid of any interesting features. A tour of the warehouse district shows a gradual closing down, for with new goods practically all picked up the assortment is about closed. In old goods L. B. Carle & Son have sold 75 cases and purchased 25 cases of 1901 and John Souman has sold 107 cases of 1901.

Edgerton Market
In regard to the Edgerton market the Reporter says that the season's work of handling the tobacco crop is fast drawing to a close. The buying movement is nearly suspended in all sections, buyers having ceased riding even for cash goods in country hands. The shipments out of storage reaches 11 carloads, 48 cases to all points.

New York
The New York market continues active for every type of leaf, says the Journal. The scarcity of the stock at hand is evidenced by the fact of the continuous requests for remission to examine already samples of the new crops. Of old stock there seems to be only a sufficiency of filler leaf, and even that is gradually vanishing on account of the ready demands for it. The force weaned Connecticut Havana seed rappers is limited in quantity and the new Florida is not yet marketable. Both Havana and Sumatra are in a healthy condition, the former with a tendency to rise, while the latter is selling as freely and steadily as any staple article, to both filler and purchaser.

Pennsylvania
Baldwinsville and Lancaster report but little activity during the week. In the latter market there is a few isolated holding of the 02 crop yet to be picked up, but others have about as much as they are for, and consequently buying is almost come to standstill. Most of the packers are taking extra precautions in packing their tobacco, because of the general apprehension that unless this is done it will develop black rot, of which there are monetary indications.

OTTO METZLER TO BE PROMOTED

Local Ticket Agent Goes to Sioux City To Take Charge of Office There.

From ticket agent in the local passenger station of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, to city passenger and ticket agent of that company at Sioux City, Ia., is a notable promotion, but such good fortune has come to Otto F. Metzler, of this city.

Mr. Metzler was called to Chicago last Thursday for a conference with the company officials, and a tender of the office was made to him and after due deliberation he signified his acceptance of the offer. He expects to leave the first of next week to assume his new duties. He will have charge of the passenger station and also the city ticket office which the company maintains there, and as the position is a responsible one, quite an increase in salary will come to Mr. Metzler. His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn of his promotion, but sorry that it will take him from their midst. His successor in the local office has not been named as yet.

WEATHERED OAK NOW THE RAGE

Choate-Hollister Factory Is Turning Out Many Novel Articles of Furniture.

Weathered oak makes a fine material for a table, as is evidenced at the Choate-Hollister factory, where a splendid library table has just been finished for use in the general offices of the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville Railway company at Beloit.

The table is chaste in design and elegant in appearance, the material of which it is made being of a character that is susceptible to a fine finish. The piece of work is a credit to the factory and will add very materially to the furnishings of the railway office for which it is intended.

Work will be begun this week on the erection of the new storage warehouse, which is to be added to the plant of the Hough Poreh Shade corporation. The new building will be 32 by 50 feet, one story in height and will be erected near the railway line just east of the main building.

TRACK MEET AT BELOIT

Madison and Line City College Contend on Under Track Today.

Coach Kilpatrick and twenty of his men were in the city this morning for several hours en route to Beloit where the state university and Beloit college will this afternoon contend in a track and team meet. The Cardinals seemed to have the usual amount of confidence in their ability to win, but Beloit is a little too much of a dark horse this season to permit absolute predictions.

MAY DEVOTIONS AT ST. MARY'S

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES AT THAT CHURCH, SUNDAY.

PROCESSION OF LITTLE ONES

Sermon by Rev. Father Goebel—The Catholic Order of Foresters Attended Early Mass in a Body.

Yesterday was the first Sunday in May, the month set aside for the glorification of the Virgin Mary by the Catholic churches all over the world. Especially beautiful were the special services at St. Mary's church from the early mass at 8:30 until the close of the May devotions in the evening.

Early Mass
At eight-thirty the Catholic Order of Foresters received the Holy Sacrament in a body, some sixty being present. Rev. Father Goebel then spoke to them on benevolent societies and congratulated the order upon their success and the good that the order had done in the past and was doing at the present. He paid particular attention to the charitable work of the order and how this feature which gave a man aid before he died as well as helping his family immediately after his death, was one of the most desirable that appeared in any of the fraternal orders. A special musical programme was also pleasingly rendered by the choir.

Morning Service
At ten-thirty the regular morning service was held and Father Goebel gave a most excellent sermon to a large congregation. Special music was also a feature of this service although the service most interesting came in the evening and was under the charge of the Little Girls' Sodality known as the Children of Mary.

The Ceremony
At eight o'clock some of the little ones assembled in the chapel and headed by twelve altar boys robed in white proceeded up the main aisle of the church to the sanctuary all carrying lighted candles. It was one of the sweetest and most pleasing sights that could be well imagined. All the little ones were dressed in white and three little tots, one carrying a crown of flowers and the other two huge baskets of flowers, added to the beauty of the scene.

A Mound of Flowers
At the sanctuary of the Virgin Mary had been placed a mound of flowers. Here the little procession halted and after singing appropriate hymns crowned the Blessed Virgin.

The Address
Father Goebel then made an address on the significance of the ceremony just enacted. He said: "The month of May was consecrated by special devotion to the Virgin Mary. As patriotism encourages us to perpetuate the memory of the heroes of our country so in religious life the church devotes this month to keep alive the great memories of great persons and noted events connected with the work of man's redemption."

The Statue
The citizens of Rock county erect a statue to remind posterity that the deeds of the departed soldiers should be remembered. Just so the church erects a statue to the Virgin Mary as a reminder to the faithful of the part she took in the past of man's redemption.

The History
The speaker then referred to the scenes at Bethlehem, on Christmas day so many centuries ago, to the temple at Jerusalem and particularly to that scene at the foot of the cross when the mother saw her only son sacrificed for man's sake.

Honors Due
"While Christ saw fit to honor his mother on earth so we Catholics with love see fit to honor her by ceremony and intercession." Then after a short exhortation to follow a life of virtue the devotions closed with the benediction.

FRANCHISE NOW ASKED FOR

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN CO. FILES ITS APPLICATION TODAY.

OFFERS MANY INDUCEMENTS

Makes Changes and Allowances from the Former Franchise Applied For.

Application for a franchise granting privileges with a view to building an electric road to Madison was filed with the city clerk today by the attorney for the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Railway Co., otherwise known as the Hayes-Jackman interests. At several features the proposed ordinance is a radical improvement upon that previously offered, especially in regard to concessions made to the city.

No Wooden Poles

Iron poles are to be used for stringing the wires of the line, these poles to be thoroughly insulated and of the most approved pattern. No wooden poles will be used within the city, a feature which is an entirely new development in the local interurban situation. The company also agrees if the council so desires, to use the most expensive and what is considered in some respects the most advantageous pattern of rail, the grooved. Otherwise the usual pattern will be employed.

Another Route Proposed

In addition to the proposed bluff street route to Milton avenue, an alternative route is suggested which runs on Glen street east to Hickory; on Hickory north to St. Mary's; and on St. Mary's east to Milton. With a view to accommodating the later interurban roads which may build into this city from towns lying on the present route, the company agrees to allow non-competing interurban and electric roads to run cars over their tracks subject to reasonable regulation.

Transfer Privileges

One section which undoubtedly refers to the probable control of the city line, in the event of securing the franchise, provides that transfers be given within the city to all lines which will accept the transfers, and that transfers from the same line be accepted on the lines of the Southern Wisconsin company, which will make one fare good to the farthest points in the city covered by the tracks of the city line and the Southern Wisconsin line. The company agrees to sell tickets within the city for five cents, six for twenty-five cents and twenty-five for a dollar.

In Regard to Paying

It is further agreed that if the city shall make any changes in the paving of the streets occupied by the line, the company shall make the same changes, and shall thereafter make no alterations unless by permit by the city and under the supervision of the city engineer, which is designed to protect the city against having its streets torn up at frequent intervals.
